INTRODUCTION

The American Academy of Matrimonial Lawyers Foundation was chartered in 1990 for charitable and educational purposes by the now 1600 members of the American Academy of Matrimonial Lawyers. The Foundation's purpose is to advance one of the AAML's most important goals – the protection of children and families. The Foundation solicits proposals for programs or activities which promote these goals and awards grants to those organizations which the Foundation deems most meritorious.

2. Promote research and education involving issues pertinent to family law.
3. Educate Judges and attorneys about appropriate standards of professional responsibility for the practice of family law.
